Subject: Call for bids to host the 2015 EUROTOX Congress

Dear EUROTOX Member Society,

I am happy to announce the official call for bids to host the 2015 EUROTOX Annual Congress.

Over the years, the EUROTOX Annual Congress has built a reputation in Europe as one of the most important scientific event of the year.

Hosting the EUROTOX Annual Congress not only means bringing together the greatest number of scientists from around Europe to your hometown in an effort to create awareness of important toxicology topics among the local organizations, industries and government authorities, but also sharing with all congress participants your cultural heritage.

Applications for offers to host a congress must contain the following:

- Location and facilities (e.g. congress centre, university)
- General infrastructure, main organizers
- A draft budget (expected income and expenses) based on guidelines

A set of guidelines has been drawn up for the benefit of organisers of future meetings and is available upon request from the EUROTOX Secretariat.

Application Submission

National Societies wishing to make a bid to host the 2015 EUROTOX Annual Congress should sent their applications via email to secretariat@eurotox.com

Application Deadline

The deadline to receive bids is January 29, 2010

Hosting the EUROTOX Annual Congress requires great professional and personal commitment, but it's certainly an experience to be cherished in years to come. I hope you will consider hosting us in 2015!

Cordially yours,

Dr. Giuseppe Malinverno
EUROTOX Secretary-General
