

FEDERATION OF EUROPEAN TOXICOLOGISTS & EUROPEAN SOCIETIES OF TOXICOLOGY

The EUROTOX Merit Award is presented annually at the EUROTOX Congress to recognize professionals with a distinguished career in European toxicology.

EUROTOX is proud to present the 2014 Merit Award to

Prof. Dieter Schrenk (Germany)

Prof. Dieter Schrenk is a full professor and head of Department of Food Chemistry & Toxicology, University of Kaiserslautern, Germany. He has made relevant scientific contributions to the toxicology of dioxins and related persistent contaminants, worked on mechanisms of tumour promotion and nutrition and colorectal cancer. He served and is still serving in several toxicological committees at the national and the European level dealing with risk assessment of food contaminants and environmental pollutants, in particular in panels and working groups of EFSA.

Prof. Schrenk was also engaged in steering the German toxicology. He served as Chairman of the Section Toxicology of the German Society for Experimental and Clinical Pharmacology and Toxicology, the forerunner of the German Toxicological Society (GT) from 2000-2003. He is now chair of the Carcinogenesis Section of the German Society of Toxicology (GT). At the European level Dieter served at the Executive Committee of EUROTOX as a member (2006-2009). Since 2011 he is chair of the Carcinogenesis Speciality Section of EUROTOX (since 2011).

Prof. Dieter Schrenk is a well-recognised member of the European Toxicological scene having contributed to the advancement of basic and applied science in the field of toxicology.
